

Virtual targets create force, but not a prescribed fingertip wrench

Independent variable

Virtual command offset in actual actuator coordinates, not penetration.

Intended mechanism

Contact prevents reaching target; persistent error generates contact force.

Observed limitation

Tendon coupling, bound clipping and contact migration change the response.

Calibration transfer

Distal single-contact calibration does not specify proximal receiver force.